the contributors to this volume offer a comprehensive theoretical critique of the closed and introspective approaches which both define and determine contemporary australian defence and security policy they critically assess the basic assumptions of mainstream security thinking challenging existing orthodoxies and means of framing reality the authors call on policy makers academics and others working on defence and security issues to think more critically and theoretically to begin to ask some of the difficult questions that are being raised in other disciplines and finally to recognise and accept the contested and problematic nature of many of the concepts that they advance as if they were self evident discourses of danger is a timely and provocative book which complements and advances the work of the secure australia project and other critics of the australian security mainstream back cover this innovative work offers the first comprehensive transcultural history of historiography the contributors transcend a eurocentric approach not only in terms of the individual historiographies they assess but also in the methodologies they use for comparative analysis moving beyond the traditional national focus of historiography the book offers a genuinely comparative consideration of the commonalities and differences in writing history distinguishing among distinct cultural identities the contributors consider the ways and means of intellectual transfers and assess the strength of local historiographical traditions as they are challenged from outside the essays explore the question of the utility and the limits of conceptions of modernism that apply western theories of development to non western cultures warning against the dominant tendency in recent historiographies of non western societies to define these predominantly in relation to western thought the authors show the extent to which indigenous traditions have been overlooked the key question is how the triad of industrialization modernization and the historicization process which was decisive in the development of modern academic historiography also is valid beyond europe illustrating just how deeply suffused history writing is with european models the book offers a broad theoretical platform for exploring the value and necessity of a world historiography beyond eurocentrism
